

Never click on links Emails are not always what you think

Fraudulent emails and texts are sent by criminals who pretend to be a legitimate company, bank or shop.

They can look very professional and might say there is a problem with your account.

They often include a link to a fake website in an attempt to obtain your login details.

Fraudulent Emails & Texts

Never click on links or respond to unexpected emails or texts.

Report fraud to Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040.

Protect yourself: have you...

- Received unexpected correspondence?
- Checked the sender's email address?
- Been asked to click a link to a website or download an attachment?
- Felt pressured to act quickly?
- Checked the contact details match those on official documents or websites?

Protect others: have they...

- Mentioned a suspicious email or text?
- Received correspondence that would normally arrive by post or telephone?
- Had unexpected transactions appear on their bank statement?
- Received other unusual messages?
- Stopped using technology out of fear?
